
Yaser El-Waly and the Value of Sincere Intentions

The Heart Behind Every Action

Yaser El-Waly has lived in Perth, Australia, for many years and his knowledge about Islam still influences his attitude toward performing everyday duties. Being at the age of fifty years old, Yaser El-Waly holds the belief that the true meaning of any activity lies in its intention. He considers that whether it is worship, helping his neighbor or assisting a relative, sincerity is what creates the foundation of each good deed.

Yaser's dedication to Deen has been gained through years of education and devotion to God through prayers. Through all this time, he learned that while actions look identical on the outside, their meaning and value lies in sincere intentions of a person's heart.

Living with Honest Purpose

For Yaser El-Waly, one should always question oneself about their purpose in life before considering its results. As per him, sincerity in one's intentions makes things clear for people and allows them to be humble even when they get praises from other people.

He talks about patience like he talks about the road that he has walked himself, and not just about the idea which he has once read somewhere. He thinks that sincerity gets more strength through consistency. Being honest even when it is inconvenient, helping people without getting any appreciation and being thankful under all circumstances are some of the signs of a heart that seeks pleasure from Allah.

Quiet Service to the Community

Yaser El-Waly remains involved in Perth in the capacity of being a teacher and mentor, and by engaging in charitable projects. However, Yaser sees these activities not as his accomplishments but rather as chances to carry out his obligations honestly and sincerely.

He follows the same approach in family matters as well. Respect, kindness, and trustworthiness should become evident at home well before they can be seen anywhere else. According to Yaser, strong families are created through numerous sincere actions.

Character Built from Within

Individuals who know Yaser El-Waly normally perceive him as a person who speaks and acts consistently. As per Yaser, a person's character is formed internally starting from one's true heart and finally externally by one's actions.

For Yaser, the importance of life is not in fame but in dedication to Allah, love of one's brothers and sisters, and purity of intentions. It is the dedication to being sincere that determines the life of Yaser El-Waly in Perth and legacy that Yaser aims to leave for coming generations.

For More Information-
yaserelwaly31@gmail.com